It Will Be All Montoya

Carlos Montoya, that mystical musician with the flamenco guitar, comes strumming into Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night.

He was so popular the last time he was here patrons requested that he not appear with a back-up orchestra but as a "single." This is difficult for an artist but Montoya, professional that he is, has acceded to popular request.

According to Montoya, the essence of flamenco is the improvisation as the artist plays. "It comes from the heart, from the soul, and, from the Spanish gypsy tradition that created flamenco music itself," he says.

"If you stop to think about it when you are playing, the spirit disappears. We gypsies are really quite unanalytical, you might even say, unintellectual.

"You feel something, you make the guitar mirror your feelings."

So if you all want to be a part of a particularly entertaining evening, plan to see Montoya Tuesday night. Tickets are on sale at Streep's, and the performance is a benefit concert sponsored by the Central Florida Museum and Planetarium and Sentinel-Star Charities.

And speaking of entertaining evenings, the Junior Service League, which is handling ticket operations for the fabulous Olympic banquet being planned for March 29, report ticket sales are zooming.

As you may remember, we reported that Jim Nabors, Mickey Rooney, Jesse Owens and Johnny Unitas will be on hand to help in the worthy cause of trying to raise funds for our Olympic teams.

They are donating their services, as are the gals from the Junior Service League, who are helping to coordinate publicity and things, and Dr. Norman Becker, who is donating not only his time but garnering a headache or two.

This is a wonderful cause. Our athletes work so hard and it does seem so unfair that they compete against professionals from other countries who are subsidized by their governments. We are our government and the only subsidy these athletes get is from us, so hop to it.

Tickets are $35 per person, banquet and great entertainment at the Contemporary in Disney World, and reservations can be made by writing the U. S. Olympic Committee, P. O. Box 6, Winter Park.

An even more worthy cause is coming up this month and it's one I hope you all will consider thoughtfully.

Maybe you'll give it more thought if you realize it's a charitable way to get out of doing the breakfast dishes and making the beds on a zing, zing schedule as you usually do in the morning.
